Peter Tumminello is a master homeopath, clinician and researcher for over 35 years based in Sydney, Australia.

He is renowned for his many years of research, books and articles about the healing power of gemstones. He has used them as medicine in his homeopathic practice. He will share his experience in prescribing and wearing these exceptional vehicles of consciousness and healing.

Early in his practice he decided to integrate his passion for precious and semi-precious gems into homeopathy. To this end he engaged in “provings” and he clinically produces remedies from gemstones.

In 2005 he completed his major printed work on gems - “Twelve Jewels”. He commissioned an inspired artist to complement the work by creating images of the essence of each of the medicines.

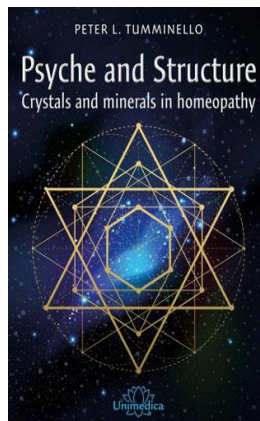

More recently, he undertook research on the nature of crystallization and its relevance to homeopathy. The result of this work is now available in his printed book titled – “Psyche and Structure”. The outcome is a remarkable milestone in understanding and prescribing gems, minerals and organic compounds in homeopathy.

Peter has now prepared well over 250 remedies sourced from crystals and minerals. He has also become a professional gemmologist in order to ensure the highest quality of gem medicine and regularly mines them in remote locations. Moreover, he studied acupuncture as the Chinese energetic medicine combines beautifully with the understanding of the “life force” in homeopathy.

He continues to consolidate his work in that marvellous laboratory of life, “the homeopathic clinic”.

Peter has conducted seminars in the UK, Europe, USA, South Africa, New Zealand and Australia.
